C. -

January 1 - 2 No Contact.

January 3 - Our sector was quiet except for intermittent shelling at MANDE-ST ETIENNE (P500595). Fire was received from one or two tanks or S.P. guns which fired then withdrew. A concentration of 95 tanks was reported in the vicinity of (P5363).

January 4 - The enemy resisted our attack with heavy mortar and M.G. fire and small groups of infantry. During the afternoon groups of from 8-20 tanks attacked our positions near MONTY (498595) and RENAUDMONT (P464598). The tanks were not supported by infantry. During the rest of the night our front lines received heavy artillery fire from the vicinity of FLAMIERGE (P475617).

January 5 - Enemy attacked in the early morning hours using infantry and from 15-20 tanks supported by artillery at RENAUDMONT. During the rest of the day accurate intermittent artillery fire fell on our positions.

January 6 - The enemy was very inactive engaging only in intermittent artillery fire of an harassing nature.

January 7 - Our attack met with little resistance in its initial stages but at noon we were counterattacked near FLAMIERGE by a force of 5 tanks and 200 infantry.

January 8 - During the day we were counter-attacked three times the strongest attack being at 0930 consisting of from 15-20 tanks attacking from FLAMIZOULLE (P492-613)

Unit Report No. 7 (Cont d)

This attack was repulsed with a loss to the enemy of four tanks. The second attack came at 1130 from the town of WILLOMONT (P465595) during which the enemy lost through attack was three more tanks. The third attack which came at 1330 was on a small scale using only two tanks and a company of infantry.

January 9 - From Mid-night of the 8th during the early morning hours the enemy used searchlights thrown against low clouds to light his rear areas. During this time patrols reported two full hours of tracked vehicular movement. During the day the enemy engaged in intermittent shelling of our forward and rear areas. Groups of from 3-6 tanks were reported at various times during the day but no attempt was made by them to penetrate our lines.

January 10 - The enemy appeared to have taken on a defensive attitude as he had apparently set up a series of strong points all along our lines. Our patrols reported the enemy digging in around the small towns to our front. During the night of the 10th the enemy again made use of searchlights and much flare activity was observed.

January 11 - No contact was made on this day and it was apparent that the enemy had completed his withdrawal from our sector.

January 12 - 21 No contact.

January 22 - Enemy engaged in light harassing artillery fire and intermittent mortar fire. The enemy sent out small patrols who attempted to penetrate our line. The strength of the largest patrol was estimated at one platoon. Two light tanks were reported moving into COLMAR during the period.

January 23 - 25 Only light intermittent artillery and mortar fire was reported and several of our patrols were fired on by MG and small arms as they attempted to penetrate the enemy positions.

January 26 - There was a noticeable decrease in mortar fire and much enemy troop movement was observed. The enemy engaged in a great amount of mining work both A-T and A-P.

January 27 - The enemy continued to hold his present line of defense using small arms, MG and mortars. Interdictory fire from 88 and 105 mm guns was received and roads leading south from ORBEY (V5249). No armor movement was reported.

January 28 - The enemy continued to hold his present line with no change in tactics.

January 29 - There was a noticeable increase in the resistance to the enemy to our penetrations wherein he made extensive use of mortars and artillery and also employed a great volume of MG and small arms fire. The enemy was observed digging in in several areas to our front.

January 30 - The enemy offered strong resistance to our advances North of COLMAR from positions at (V743463)(732463)(713474). On the eastern slope of hill 860 at (V5545) stiffened enemy opposition was met from a heavy volume of fire from automatic weapons. During this twenty-four hour period there was a sharp increase in artillery fire which consisted of both 88 and 105 mm. The enemy used a ski-patrol which ambushed one of our patrols at (V464427). Seven of the enemy surrendered under a white flag.

January 31 - The enemy continued to oppose our advance toward COLMAR from well dug in MG and individual emplacements. The bulk of artillery fire reported in previous day has subsided and a great increase in mortar fire has been noted. Our infantry on the west flank met stiff resistance from LeNOIRMONT (V5445). Five tanks or S-P guns were reported during the period but were moving to the south and did not engage. The enemy was observed using horse drawn sleds to move troops.

D. At the present time the enemy is in the process of removing troops from the COLMAR pocket and only a guess can be made as to his strength in this area. It can be estimated that he is using from 2000 - 3000 men as a holding force while he withdraws precious guns and supplies from this area. Although the troops in this area are warmly clothed the supply problem is tremendous due to the difficulty in transportation. The enemy in this sector seems to have a good store of ammunition inasmuch as stores had previously been built up in COLMAR probably in view of making a stand here. The main supply difficulty seems to be in food which from PW reports is none to good or none to plentiful. Food being a large factor in the determining of morale this brings on the inevitable breakdown of morale even among victorious troops and therefore to the already beaten troops to our front it is the final blow to morale. The troops to our front have not up to this point been told of the Russian successes to the East which will account for their resistance despite their poor situation at present. Also the fact that their backs are on their own borders adds some incentive to resist. All of these things would tend to show that the enemies morale has reached a new low which will suffer an even more severe blow when the news of the collapse of the Eastern Front reaches them.

The enemy has identified the 28th Division as being on his front and from having full knowledge of its last two commitments and their subsequent effects on this division has a fair knowledge of the potentialities of the division and its attached units.

E. Actually there is only one plan of action open to the enemy that being to withdraw across the RHINE, River where he will be able to set up a defense more capable of holding us than that which he now occupies. We are meeting the enemy on the COLMAR PLAINS which is perfectly flat and adopts itself more to attack than to defense. Our supremacy both in armor and artillery can be employed to full advantage.

Because of the urgent need for men and machines on the Eastern front the enemy has been forced to withdraw great numbers of troops from this area including the armored units with which he hoped to stave off our inevitable attack. This indicates that no attack of any size can be launched from his present positions and that the enemy can only indulge in a delaying action designed to retard our advance until he has had time enough to regroup his shrunken forces and establish a line of defense capable of delaying us until he can once again stabilize both fronts.

It is evident that the withdrawal of the enemy into prepared positions on the East bank of the RHINE is now in progress and will no doubt be completed within the next two days and nights.
