

FROM SGT. RICHARD POTTER 11065564

RECONNAISSANCE COMPANY
774TH TANK DESTROYER BATTALION

FT. BENNING, GEORGIA APO. 260

MISS MURIEL HENDRY
WENGA FARM
ARMONK,
NEW YORK

RECONNAISSANCE COMPANY
774TH TANK DESTROYER BATTALION

May 26, 1943

Dear Muriel:

Started a letter to you day before yesterday + had to give up for lack of ideas. Hope I fare better tonight. Your letter arrived so long ago I feel awfully guilty for not answering much sooner. I mean to but I'm too good a procrastinator.

How're things going in Westchester these days? Didn't see much of it the last time I was home. Never saw time days go so quickly before!! What with gas rationing + long drives I didn't accomplish much. West-afes? We didn't even get to N.Y.C. did we? Ah well, I guess I'm in the dog house all around.

Well gal, things here run along much the same as always. We all managed to drag the twenty-five miles a couple of weeks back. Today we made a ten-mile hike in two hours thirty-two minutes, which is really moving believe me!! Other than that, routine classes on all subjects - motor maintenance, radio procedure, map reading and the like - occupy most of our time.