

“HIGHWAY II”

OCTOBER 1986
REUNION

MYRTLE BEACH, SO. CAROLINA

825th
TANK DESTROYER BATTALION

TRUE IN 1945 - STILL TRUE TODAY

LT. COL. RUDOLPH H. MIEDING
Battalion Commander

We can all point with pride to our accomplishments. Having been together for three years, through many adventures, we are bound together with strong ties that can never be completely broken, even though peace will scatter us to the four winds, to our homes and back to our civilian jobs. We have formed friendships which will endure for the rest of our lives.

I am proud of this Battalion, proud to have been your Commander, proud of the Battalion's fine record. None of us know what the future has in store for us, but we can say with confidence that we have fulfilled our destiny in this war. We have reached the cross roads, and will go our many separate ways. But, no matter where we go, or what our assignment may be, we can never serve with a finer bunch of men, truer comrades, better friends, than those we served with in the 825th Tank Destroyer Battalion.

My Dear Friends,

This album is really a continued history, brought up-to-date, with pictures that will stimulate your memories.

All that we are doing now with tapes, albums, and, of course, the reunions, are all possible because the boys of Company C had the foresight to start meeting yearly, after the war; and kept doing it until the rest of us got wiser and decided to join them. I know I speak for everyone who was at Myrtle Beach when I convey our gratitude to them.

This book is an extension of our "Highway", printed at the close of our Army life and, thus, we've called it "Highway II". I hope there will be many more.

There will be some errors, especially in the address sections, but it is what information we got from all of you. There are many unexpected things that come up when you are putting a book like this together. It is a most difficult task and I hope that you will look on my endeavor with compassion.

A few weeks after our reunion, I received a letter from the wife of Jessie Piper. In 1984 I received a similar letter from the wife of Francis DeRochers. They both informed me of the passing of their spouses and our friends. Each expressed their gratitude for the joy that their husbands had gotten from seeing old buddies one last time.

Letters like those and one from Martin Greenspan in which he says, "Thanks for making it a vacation for the wives. My wife was going to these reunions only to make me happy. She had so much fun last year, she can't wait for 1987."

Thank you to all. Thanks to our great committee.

Lou Celentano
Chairman
