ARTHUR B. ROSSLAND, 37169946, Sergeant, Field Artillery, Company "A", * Tank Destroyer Battelian, for gallantry in action on 19 March 1945, in the vicinity of Encheim, Germany. Sergeant Rossland directed the fire and deployment of his tank destroyer in close support of infantry elements in the attack on enemy positions within the Siegfried Line. Despite the continuous barrage of hostile artillery, morter and small arms fire, Sergeant Rossland, from his exposed position in the destroyer's turret, determinedly directed his destroyer forward to engage repeatedly the enemy in point blank combat. During this action, he was struck by enemy artillery fire which mortally wounded him. The inspiring leadership and devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Rossland are deserving of the highest praise. Next of kin: Martin Rossland (Father), Marmon, North Dakota.

ALVIN K. WACGONER, 37151439, Staff Sorgeant, Field Artillery, Company "A",  Tank Destroyer Battalion, for gallantry in action on 19 March 1945, in the vicinity of Ensheim, Germany. In the absence of his plateon leader, Sergeant Waggoner was directing the operations of the Second Plateon in their assault on the Siegfried Line. Upon reaching a position where the infantry he was supporting was held up by heavy enemy fire, Sergeant Waggoner, in order to secure information concerning where they desired the fire of his guns, left the comparative safety of the tank destroyer and proceeded through intense enemy fire to the position of the infantry. After being informed of the strongest points of enemy resistance, he returned to his tank destroyer. As he proceeded to direct the fire of his plateon, he was struck by enemy artillery fire and mortally wounded. His gallant sacrifice is an inspiration to the men he led. Next of kins Wrs. AWARD OF THE BRONZE STAR MEDAL

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, the Bronze Star Medal is awarded by the Commanding General to the following for heroic achievement:

ISRAEL KEWES, 31040654, Private, Infantry, Company "C", 254th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 3 March 1945, in the vicinity of Hartungshof, Germany. Private Kenes made three trips across open terrain in the face of enemy automatic weapons fire to evacuate wounded men. He displayed magnificent courage under fire in his efforts to aid his fellow soldiers. Afterwards, Private Kenes advanced to an enemy held house to throw accurately hand grenades into it, thereby ending the enemy resistance. Entered military service from New Haven, Connecticut.

LEONARD L. LIFTO, 37090749, Technician Fourth Grade, Infantry, Cannon Company, 255th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 15 February 1945, in the vicinity of Bliesbrucken, Germany. Technician Fourth Grade Lifto helped to lay and maintain wire close behind the forward observer of his company. Although under enemy observation and subject to intense enemy fire, he maintained communication lines, enabling cannon fire to be placed accurately and lisison to be maintained between platoons of his company. Entered military service from Roebcater, Minnesota.

Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 3 March 1945, in the vicinity of Hartungshof, Germany. Sergeant Maxwell's squad was supporting a platoon of Company "C", which was pinned down under intense enemy rifle and machine gun fire. Observing the critical situation, Sergeant Maxwell skillfully laid down a base of fire with his machine gun on the enemy position and by so doing drew enemy fire. With determination and courage he reigned becoming a casualty, fell to the ground and directed the fire of his squad with deadly effect. He then joined in the assault on the entrenched enemy, strenging the enemy machine gun emplacement and taking four prisoners. Entered military service from Belleville, Illinois.

In MILLER, 44025340, Private, Infantry, Company "C", 254th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 3 March 1945, in the vicinity of Hartungshof, Germany. Despite a limited withdrawal and several casualties caused by superior enemy fire, Private Miller rushed through enemy machine pistol and machine gun fire to save boxes of machine gun ammunition. Although wounded in the hand, he successfully withdraw the ammunition. His action considerably contributed to a regrouping and successful attack on the enemy strongpoint. Entered military service from Hemingway, South Carolina.

GUSS D. ROSS, JR, 34971054, Private First Class, Infantry, Company "A", 253d Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 12 January 1945, in the vicinity of Neunkirch, France. When a patrol with which he was serving abandoned their equipment after discovering that they were greatly outnumbered by the enemy, Private First Class Ross, knowing it was the only link of communication, carried a radio down a 300-yard draw under enemy machine gun fire. His courdgeous action, performed under extremely hazardous conditions, resulted in directing fire on enemy positions and securing vital information. Entered military service from Gadsden, Alabama.

HAROLD E. THORE, 37081608, Technician Fourth Grade, Field Artillery, Company "A",  Tank Destroyer Battalion, for heroic achievement in action on 19 March 1945, in the virinity of Enshein, Germany. While in support of infantry elements in the attack on the Siegfried Line, the tank destroyer of which Technician Fourth Grade Thorn was the driver, was hit by enemy artillery fire, mortally wounding both his platoon leader and destroyer commander and leaving the gunner in a stunned condition. Quickly examining the injured personnel, Technician Fourth Grade Thorn left his position in the destroyer and proceeded through intense enemy artillery, mortar and small arms fire to the position of another tank destroyer, secured the aid of a fellow soldier to act as guide for him, and evacuated his destroyer and the wounded. Entered military service from New Rockford, North Dakota.

ISAAC B. ZARATE, 39049457, Private First Class (then Private), Infantry, Service Company, 255th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 3 January 1945, in the vicinity of Lambach, France. While his truck was being unloaded at a battalion ammunition dump, enemy rockets and artillery were fired into the area. Although wounded, Private First Class Zarate, showing great courage, jumped into his truck and drove it out of the concentration. Entered military service from Stockton, California.

NUMBER 111) AWARD OF THE BRONZE STAR AEDAL

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, the Bronze Star medal is awarded by the Commanding General to the following of Company "C", 253d Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 5 March 1945, in the vicinity of Bubingen, Germany:

RODMAN F. BACKUS, JR., 31434445, Sergeant (then Private), Infantry. Entered military service from Fall River, Massachusetts.

EMBERTON HOLMES, 32928894, Surgeant (then Private First Class), Infantry.
Entered military service from Clifton, New Jorsey.

These men, members of a squad, had a mission to attack and destroy an enemy machine gun nest. An enveloping movement was started when the leading scout was fired on by an enemy machine gun, wounding him and pinning down other members of the squad. With utter disregard for personal safety, these men crawled approximately forty yards through a murdorous zone of enemy machine gun fire to recover and administer first aid to the wounded scout. Their heroic action saved the life of a soldier and also enabled the squad leader to determine the exact location of the enemy and take the machine gun emplacement.

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, the Bronze Star medal is awarded by the Commanding General to the following of Battery "B", 18th Field Artillery Battalion, for heroic achievement in action on 16 March 1945, in the vicinity of Ensheim, Germany:

JESSE B. BROWN, 18002163, Private, Field Artillery. Entered military service from Kingfisher, Oklahoma.

EARNEST I. KIRKLAN, 18050219, Private First Class, Field Artillery. Entered military service from Durant, Oklahoma.

WILLIAM J. MITCHELL, 6292835, Sergeant, Field Artillery. Entered military service from Mira, Louisianc.

BILLY M. REECE, 6292838, Corporal, Field Artillery. Entered military service from Deport, Texas.

Two vehicles, one loaded with ammunition, were struck by enemy shells and burst into flames. These men rushed to the burning vehicle, and, although it and the ammunition cases were burning fiercely, they, with Lieutenant Marley, removed the smouldering cases of ammunition while enemy shells burst within the area. Due to their courageous action, the ammunition was removed and the fire extinguished, preventing further damage and possible casualties.

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, 22 September 1943, as smended, the Bronze Star Med 1 is awarded by the Commanding General to the following for heroic achievement:

GEORGE E. ADAMS, 31450067, Sergeant (then Private First Class), Infantry, Company "A", 255th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 4 March 1945, in the vicinity of Gudingen, Germany. During a counter-attack by the enemy, Sergeant Adams fired his rockets on enemy self-propelled guns, knocking out one and keeping two others occupied to the extent that their fire was inaccurate. He kept up the fire on the two remaining self-propelled guns until he was out of ammunition and his position untenable and then assisted a wounded man back to the rear. By his action the company was able to continue on its mission. Entered military service from Bingham, Maine.

THOMAS J. COYNE, JR., 32013922, First Sorgeant (then Technical Sergeant), Inf. Company "D", 255th Infantry Regiment, for heroic achievement in action on 3 March 1945, in the vicinity of Gudingen, Germany. Under heavy artillery and mortar fire, Sorgeant Coyne continuously moved his platoon forward, constantly checking for dispersion and formation. During the attack, he personally carried wire forward so that when the objective was reached the line was ready for use, enabling the platoon to call for supporting artillery fire. Sergeant Coyne maintained communications with his company command post by maintaining the wire which enabled the securing of mortar fire when the enemy launched a counter-attack against an adjacent unit. Sergeant Coyne's outstanding leadership and initiative aided materially in the success of the attack. Entered military service from Brooklyn, New York.
