

Doughboy — TDs Teamwork Shown

The kind of co-operation units of the infantry and the tank destroyers give one another in battle is exemplified in the award of the Bronze Star to T/5 Ellsworth Eidenmuller, 648th TD Bn., one of the units attached to the 70th.

Eidenmuller, a TD medic. was in a comparatively safe spot during the drive on Forbach, when he noticed a group of wounded doughs, nearby. Under "intense mortar and artillery fire" he worked his way over to them and gave them first aid until they could be evacuated. While ministering to the men, Eidenmuller himself was wounded by shrapnel.